COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

We will complete tarring roads this week. Driveways will be done the first of next week unless it rains.

Trees are being removed to complete the Dutch Elm program for the year. There have been 69 trees planted this year to replace some of those cut.

The town is not eligible for State subsidy for Dutch Elm Control as we do not remove trees on private property. The percentage paid now does not encourage this practice. We feel we must take care of the trees within the street/road limits first, then it may be possible to consider more work on private land.

This year there will be $5,000 spent on tree removal and $2,500 on replacing trees. At this rate in a few years the town should have the situation under control.

We are reaching the final stages of assessing this year. Next Monday night the assessors will meet for a special session to review the work done by Mr. Gagnon. It will take approximately three weeks to type the tax bills after the assessors finish their work.

OXFORD COUNTY SAID TO BE HIGHEST MINERALIZED AREA IN STATE BY GEM SOCIETY

To mineralogists and geologists the state of Maine has long been considered one of the best areas in the United States for collecting semiprecious gemstones. Surprisingly the majority of Maine residents are not aware of this fact.

The most highly mineralized area in the state lies in Oxford County. The gems produced from this area are famous the world over and come in all colors of the rainbow. There are the aquamarines, tourmalines, and different types of quartz to mention a few.

The aquamarine is a clear variety of beryl and depending upon the type occurs in pink, colorless, golden yellow, blue, and green. The Bumpus Quarry in Albany is an excellent place to collect some varieties.

Quartz found in Oxford County ranges all the way from colorless to various shades of purple. The purple quartz is best known as amethyst. Nice specimens of the crystallized amethyst are being taken out of the Deer Hill area in Stow.

Tourmaline is by far the most famous and colorful of all Maine gemstones. Tourmaline usually occurs in green, pink, blue, colorless, purple, brown, black and sometimes yellow. Perhaps the best location for finding the gem tourmaline is the Mt. Mica Quarries in Paris.

It would take a great deal of time to travel to all these locations and perhaps find a specimen for yourself. Instead, it is suggested that you visit the Gem and Mineral Round-up being held in Rumford Corner, on June 11, 12, and 13. It will be in the new school just off Route 2. Refreshments will be served all three days. The minerals that have been mentioned will be on display in both their rough and cut forms. There will also be dealers displaying and selling specimens and jewelry from all over the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Garold Kingsbury and children, Lynn, Mass., are vacationing for two weeks in and around Bethel and visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Berry.

FIVE INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER LEARNING TO PARTICIPATE IN "EDUCATIONAL COMMUNITY"

The U. S. Office of Education has issued a $50,000 grant to a "consortium" of five teacher training institutions to use human relations and other behavioral science techniques at an Institute for Advanced Study, Bethel.

The consortium consists of the University of Arizona, Tucson; University of Florida, Gainesville; Gonzaga University, Spokane, Wash.; Lesley College, Boston; and the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

The collaborative project will be coordinated by the NTL Institute for Applied Behavioral Science, which is associated with the National Education Association. Training laboratories will be conducted in the five states and at the NTL Institute summer campus in Bethel. The experimental project, which was tested last summer, reflects the long-time interest of the NTL Institute in the development of an educational community for teacher training and educational improvement.

The basis for the project was stated by Dr. Howard Lamb of the NTL Institute. "The consortium reflects the shared perception that teacher education is increasingly out of touch with reality, as each part of the teacher training and utilization system grows more distant from the others," said Dr. Lamb.

"Teachers and students are becoming more alienated from each other," Dr. Lamb said. "Distrust and lack of commitment to learn result in hostility and lack of motivation to teach; thus a circular process is set in motion and sustained with serious consequences."

Dr. Kenneth Ames, dean of the College of Education, Gonzaga University, stated that the project is designed to integrate the education which teachers receive in college with on-the-job conditions, and to develop new patterns for mobilizing and utilizing teaching resources.

Gonzaga University submitted the proposal in behalf of the other colleges under the guide lines of the Education Professions Development Act, as administered by the U. S. Office of Education.

Participants at the six-week summer Institute will include educators, school administrators, teachers, student teachers, school board members, parents and children. The emphasis will be on the need for individualization of instruction, so that four-year-old children and education professors will teach and learn from each other.

Before and after the summer Institute, each school of education will work with schools in their areas in order to develop new techniques to integrate teacher trainers, teachers, students and other groups.

Participants in the project will receive special training in communications and human relations, and then will be encouraged to apply these techniques in classes, at parent-teacher conferences, and in the community.

Former Andover Girl Given Art Grant

The North Syracuse (New York) Art Guild has presented its second annual scholarship incentive award to an "outstanding senior" at North Syracuse High School, who plans to go on and major in art.

The recipient is Brenda M. Hodsdon, daughter of Mrs. J. Austin Dingle, Cicero, N. Y., and Keith Hodsdon, Fryeburg. The selection was made from a group of six candidates by a panel of art teachers, members of the Guild.

Miss Hodsdon has been a student in the North Syracuse school system for the past two years and has been a student of Roland Ivers and Richard DeAngelo. She formerly lived in Andover and attended Fryeburg Academy. She had no previous art training. She has been accepted at the Vesper George School of Art in Boston.

Miss Hodsdon's prize winning work was on view in the lobby at the North Syracuse High School, Miss Hodsdon graduated on June 23, a member of a class of 675.

She also received the North Syracuse Central Schools Service Award—"A Certificate of Merit in recognition of voluntary service to this

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres.
It's early dawn, the nearest thing to perfection that there is and there is already music in my garden. As I lie scarcely awake I hear the twittering of bird songs, so soft and sweet as they utter their first sleepy calls.

The flute-like voice of the thrush trills through the air. Then an answer from his mate in melodious tones floats back.

Vacation Bible School Closes

On June 27 the pupils of the Calvary Congregational Bible School presented their program and displayed their handiwork. Mrs. Eugene Merrill was Superintendent and the theme was "Let's Go With Christ". Mrs. Ralph Stinson had charge of the Missionary Stories each morning and did the singing with Mrs. Orville Meisner as pianist.

49 children attended. Mrs. Lester White assisted by Mrs. Colby Roberts taught ages 3, 4, and 5. Their topic was "My Friend Paul". Mrs. Orville Meisner assisted by Diane Meisner taught Grades 1 and 2 "New Testament People".

Miss Rosalie Bailey assisted by Nancy Bailey taught Grades 3 and 4—"Great is the Lord". Mrs. Robert MacKenney assisted by Debbie and Vickie Meisner taught grades 5 and 6, "Heroes of the New Testament".

The East Andover Community Club will meet at the home of Mrs. William Crooker on July 8. This will be a cold tasting party meeting. Plans will be made for the community picnic to be held in August. All members are urged to attend.

school in publicity and Art Club year 1968-1969."

Mr. and Mrs. William Nuppula were week end guests of their son, and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nuppula in Concord, N. H.

What a beautiful duet at dawn! None can equal it. Its singing has been compared to the "theme with variations" of the classical composers. There is indeed an air of classical serenity about him as he sits motionless and sings on and on. I'm glad this fellow in his chestnut brown suit chose to live here.

As I walk to my garden, the first ray of the sun is playing on the pond. It's early, but so refreshing.

When I start down the steps my chickadees, mia and pa, now with a family raised in my bird house, greet me asking for a "hand out".

Robin hops about cocking his head and listening for his breakfast.

Back among the blue bells of the columbine I hear a soft humming sound and I know Ruby Throat is here. He is keeping watch for the red flowers, his favorite Bee Balm, to unfold its brilliance. This incredible dynamo's flying capacities are astonishing. Like a helicopter, it can hover in front of a blossom and drink its nectar, flying forward or backward with equal ease.

Birds are worth to you the pleasure they give and pleasure and surprises come to us around home as readily as they do in far away places.

I had the delightful surprise this week of the house wren. In all my years in town I had never seen one until now—here. I was so sure he had chosen an old bird house out back—that house so long ago mounted on a pole. I was afraid for him for I believed a breath would blow the thing down. Nothing had ever nested in it. For days he brought sticks and straws and I was sure all would collapse. But it stood, only now no more. I presume when like, when arriving in new territory, it fills every hole and cavity in that neighborhood with twigs, so that there will be a good selection of reserved sites. It may take one bird house and fill up two others to keep out undesirable. Then, too, the male is often a bigamist and to support two separate households and feed two families is not easy. Nervous? Worried! No wonder there was an air of bustling and hustling.

Anyway, he was fun to watch and may yet return. He is around for I hear his bubbling and now and then get a glimpse of him. I shall keep watch.

All our birds are bits of the primeval wilderness as it came from the hand of "Nature's God" as Thomas Jefferson once said:

So I worked and listened alone, I and the birds in a full chorus.

Now I have finished my visit to the garden. I wonder as I turn away—Do the birds furnish the music for the lovely flowers or do the flowers decorate the theatre for these concert artists? Either way fragrant blossoms and a symphony make a wonderful dawn, alone with creation. No stage could be more lovely for the beginning of a new day.

The Hayes boys, Glenn, Gray, Duane, West Paris; Ardell, Auburn, and their families, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hayes on Saturday. Other callers were Mr.

and Mrs. "Buster" Waterhouse, Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Franze Mills are at their cottage here after spending a week in Shapleigh with their son and family.

Mrs. Doris Hayes and Mrs. Colista Morgan attended the open house for Mr. and Mrs. William Slattery, West Paris, in honor of their fortieth wedding anniversary.

Two of our local girls became brides on Saturday, June 28. Linda Sibley became the bride of Jerry Evans and Lucy Curtis became the bride of Tommy Bragg. Several from here attended the receptions. The best wishes of our little community is extended to them.

Callers at Mrs. Clyde Morgan's this week have been Annie Mills, Shapleigh, Lucy Ridley, Norway, and Doris Hayes, town.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Millett attended the town meeting Monday evening at Locke Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. "Skip" Morris left Friday on a fishing trip to the Allagash. Mr. and Mrs. Montie Millett are also in that region.

Mr. and Mrs. Lauri Tamminen, Vermont, were in town Sunday and called on their uncle, Willie Yates. Miss Lillian Curtis is in Freeport this summer where she has employment.

Bouquets of mixed flowers and miniature bouquets of pansies decorated the church.

Traditional wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. Wayne Farrington, Dryden, a friend of the bride. Mavis Pearson, Florenceville, New Brunswick, Canada, a classmate of the couple, sang "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" and "Each for the Other and Both for the Lord". Robert MacKenney, South Andover, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered the guests.

After the marriage ceremony the Rev. William Gallant, Athens, officiated in a Service of Dedication of the couple.

Following this, the couple received about 100 guests at a lawn reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Robert MacKenney, sister of the bride, circulated the guest book and supervised the gift display. Assisting with refreshments were Miss Jeanne Merrill, Miss June Bailey and Miss Nancy Bailey. The couple cut the wedding cake then the duty was given to Miss Rosalie Bailey.

When the couple left, Mrs. Buzzell was dressed in a light blue dress trimmed with white lace made by Miss Rosalie Bailey.

Mrs. Buzzell graduated from Andover High School and New Brunswick Bible Institute, Victoria, New Brunswick, Can.

EMERGENCY AMBULANCE AND POLICE?

For the past four months the citizens of Bethel have known of the fact that the locality will be without ambulance service after December 31 of this year. Up to the present time, with less than six months to the deadline, little, if any, serious planning has been made to provide emergency service for the area.

There are those who are of the opinion that this might be an opportunity to expand local police activity to full-time 24-hour coverage and at the same time put administration of a volunteer emergency ambulance service in the jurisdiction of the police department. Estimates of the cost of such combined operations run from $25,000 to $30,000 a year to start, exclusive of the cost of a vehicle for use as an ambulance. Under such a plan the ambulance would be operated by volunteers with the police department being responsible for the availability of at least two trained persons for emergency duty at all times. These persons would be compensated for the time on a call.

It is thought that estimates include adequate funds to allow for depreciation of both the police cruiser and ambulance, with the salary to be paid, and the number, full time policemen to be the large variable item. For the current municipal year $7,700 was raised for Police, and $5,000 for local ambulance subsidy.

County Sheriff's Department coverage in this area is less than in former years with the absence of a local full-time deputy. The State Police are reportedly reluctant to investigate accidents, etc., in towns having local police, preferring instead to confine their duties to State Highways whenever possible. Assuming these points to be valid, an argument worthy of consideration would appear to be made in favor of full-time local coverage.

As this program would involve a considerable outlay of local tax money it is imperative that the similar plans be investigated in the very near future. The local private ambulance operator has provided service to several surrounding towns, so they might contribute some to its Cub Scout Pack 566 held their Pack meeting Thursday, June 26, at Littlefield Beaches with a family picnic. There were 17 families present. Following supper a Pinewood Derby Race was held in the Recreation Hall, Scott Gunther of Den 2 was the winner with runner-up Scott Stebbins of Den 3. Each boy is to be commended for the beautiful race cars they made with the help of their fathers and the good sportsmanship they showed in the race. It was a good experience.

There are those who are of the opinion that consideration of a program of this nature might be deferred until next year, with arrangements being made with out-of-town concerns for emergency service in the interim. Such arguments for stop-gap arrangements would appear to be valid only when loss of service locally manifested itself on short notice. Bethel has known it will be without service at the end of this year since the annual town meeting, and to this date nothing concrete has been done.

Although it may dampen the ardor of some who look to Augusta and/or Washington, or private organizations in between, for assistance with every new program, it possibly might be more speedily accomplished, if initially at least, local funds were used for any such venture.

All things considered we believe that a full-time local police department combined with emergency ambulance service is worthy of consideration for as it has been said—"Time is Fleeting."

POWER TO BRING CHANGE STILL AVAILABLE TO SOCIETY—CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS TOLD

The power to bring concrete change that characterized the life of Jesus is still available to society, some 10,000 Christian Scientists were told at the denomination's Annual Meeting on Monday, June 2.

"That same Christ-power is inexhaustibly present today, to be manifested in healing the world's ills just as directly as when Jesus was on earth—and just as radically," said Inman H. Douglass, Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors. Mr. Douglass read the Directors' annual message.

"What Can We Do for Our World?" was the theme developed in a series of meetings and workshops that continued through Thursday, June 5.

The Directors' message urged Christian Scientists to turn their attention to the welfare of all mankind. The starting point, Mr. Douglass said, is a commitment to daily devote specific study and prayer to the healing of world problems.

The Chairman of the Board of Directors cited the following statement by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer of Christian Science: "The Church, more than any other institution, at present is the cement of society, and it should be the bulwark of civil and religious liberty" ("Miscellaneous Writings").

"Prayer lived," Mr. Douglass told the large audience, "demands change."

Internal progress on the part of the individual impels outward progress, Mr. Douglass said. "And it's the most meaningful, the most effective way to advance orderly social change."

The example of the power of the Christ in the life of Jesus offers a "striking challenge to all Christians and to every Christian church, including our own, a challenge to bring the same spiritual power to bear on all the individual and social problems of the world."

Humanitarian activity, he said, typifies the very nature of Christianity. But if it is to be lastingly effective and cause deep changes in society, "it must never lack the support of spiritual consecration which comes through study and prayer."

"Because the human must be brought into accord with the divine, Mr. Douglass said, progress is inevitable and irresistible."

Through the week the need for healing of a wide range of social problems was considered in depth. Filmed interviews with prominent spokesmen will be shown on the subject of race relations, youth, underdevelopment, law and order, legal and judicial reform, and international relations. Staff members of The Christian Science Monitor have conducted interviews with such figures as John Gardner, President of the Urban Coalition; Dean Erwin Griswold, Solicitor General of the United States; Carl Stokes, Mayor of Cleveland; Professor Kenneth Keniston of Yale, and Daniel Walker, author of "Rights in Conflict", a study of violence surrounding the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Erwin D. Canham, Editor in Chief of The Christian Science Monitor, Howard Jones, former ambassador to Indonesia, and Alan Young, are among well-known Christian Scientists who will address meetings during the week.

The new President of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Pennsylvania. They are in Jennie Perkins new house.

Mrs. Jennie Perkins and Harold Truman spent the day Tuesday with his niece, Mrs. Helen Tirrell. They also called on Ina Good, Mrs. John DeWolf and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frenchette at South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gorman called on Jennie Perkins one day last week.

ton, Mass., for the year 1969-1970 is L. Ivimy Gwalter, a resident of Boston. Miss Gwalter served as a director of the Church for 20 years. She resigned from that position in 1968 to devote full time to the spiritual healing ministry of Christian Science. She has been a member of the Church since 1904 and an active Christian Science teacher and public practitioner for many years.

Humanity is searching desperately for emancipation Miss Gwalter said in her address. It is a "consistent concept of God, a spiritual understanding of Him, that frees men from self-imposed bondage to materialism," she stated. Christian Scientists should devote themselves, Miss Gwalter said, to helping the world find an understanding of God that is consistent with Christ Jesus' promise: "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also" (John).

Sen. Muskie Reports BATTLE FOR INDEPENDENCE IS FOREVER WAGED

Thomas Jefferson wrote for the Jubilee Celebration of national independence in 1826, "All eyes are opened, or are opening to the rights of man. The general spread of the light of science has already laid open to every view the palpable truth, that the mass of mankind has not been born with saddles on their backs, nor a favored few booted and spurred, ready to ride them legitimately, by the grace of God. These are grounds of hope for others. For ourselves, let the annual return of this day, forever refresh our recollections of these rights, and an undiminished devotion to them."

Ten days later, Jefferson died early in the morning of July 4, a half century after the Declaration of Independence he had written was proclaimed to the world.

Jefferson clearly was telling his countrymen that the convictions of the Founding Fathers were being justified; that men can be free and still build a stable society; that democracy can work.

The Fourth of July, then, is more than a national anniversary of our independence from Great Britain. It is more than an observance of a revolution against political oppression.

It is a celebration of the triumph of the human spirit. Our independence was recognized of the brotherhood and dignity of man. It was an expression of self-determination and of the belief that the life of every man is sacred.

The Founding Fathers believed that each human being possessed nobility, and that he should have the right to develop and express it. They believed that the nation's best interests would be served by the fulfillment of her individual citizens.

This year, and every year as we observe the Fourth of July, let us remember this deeper meaning of the occasion.

At home, let us remember that the American Dream is not fully realized. There are some who have not had a full opportunity to benefit from the rights won for most of us by the Founding Fathers. As long as all Americans do not have an equal chance for personal fulfillment, the war for independence will not have been won completely.

The signers of the Declaration of Independence were not self-satisfied men. They were willing to sacrifice their lives and fortunes for the cause of personal freedom and opportunity. There can be no excuse for smugness, apathy or intolerance now.

ARMY SERIAL NUMBERS BEING REPLACED BY SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS

Old timers can recall the old Brown Shoe Army, Springfield 03 Rifles, pack mules and base pay under $25 a month. They can also remember when plug tobacco was an item of issue. All of these things have quietly passed into history and on June 30 another "Old timer" was put out to pasture. Army Serial numbers or Service numbers were replaced by individual Social Security account numbers.

The first Army Service number was issued 51 years ago to an enlisted man. Master Sergeant Arthur B. Crean received Army Service number-1 on February 28, 1918. Officers were not issued identification numbers until June 1921 when Gen. Pershing (Black Jack), the Chief of Staff, received number O-1.

Since a Social Security account number has no prefix or suffix, the soldier's identification number no longer will indicate grade, sex, active or reserve component, or method of entry.

for class for 1970, several have indicated an interest in nursing as a career. The nearness of adequate hospital training programs facilitates this vocational planning. In view of this interest as expressed by our students at Telstar, the Guidance Department desires to comment as follows on "Nursing as a Career": Is your goal a career which offers security, satisfaction and success? Do people interest you? Do you want to help others? Do you enjoy taking part in new and exciting experiences? Are you interested in progress and learning?

If you are, then nursing is the profession for you to consider. The field of nursing has much to offer in many diversified activities and is a deeply rewarding service. For the well qualified professional nurse there are innumerable opportunities at salaries comparable to those of other professional women. Nursing is an adventure into the realm of scientific knowledge and the unknown depths of human emotion. It is a challenge for all, the brave and the timid. Nursing is the love of people, the strength of friendship, and the warmth of confidence.

If you desire to pursue nursing as a career, in September contact your Counselor. The guidance files offer many references to nursing institutions, admission requirements, scholarships and other related matters. Nursing is available to young men.

The services of the Guidance Office at Telstar is available during the summer vacation to parents, students and post graduates. The telephone is 224-2077 and the office hours are 8:00-3:30. YOU ARE WELCOME.
